EXPERIENCE

Blake has been in the insurance industry for over 11 years. He started his career at Heffernan in 2015, working out of the Menlo park's commercial lines department. He then spent 7 years as a claims adjuster with an international claim's administrator. Blake managed a diverse range of workers' compensation claims over the years. His background includes close collaboration with litigation specialists, investigators, and injuries across various industries. He also maintains a California SelfInsurance Administration designation. As a previously designated claim adjuster for a large client, Blake is committed to maintaining a great relationship with his clients. He aims to provide valuable insight to Heffernan's clients to help them better understand the workers' compensation system and walk them through the claims process. Having been an adjuster for several years, he enjoys working closely with our carrier partners to collaborate on challenging claim scenarios. He believes a strong partnership between our clients and the carriers will lead to fantastic results for all parties involved.
